CHIEF SEAPORT IS CAPTURED BY CANTONESE

Sympathizers Take Matters into Own Hands and Conduct Guerrilla Warfare

U. S. MARINES LAND

First Disturbance Reported in International Settlement;
City Without Lights

Shanghai, Mar. 21—Chaos prevails in Shanghai today, following the occupation of the native city by the victorious Cantonese.

The fleeing Shantung troops are impressing citizens into service and are killing indiscriminately as they go.

Cantonese sympathizers, without waiting for the creation of a Nationalist city administration, have taken matters into their own hands, seized the police stations, and are conducting a guerrilla warfare on those whom they regard as their enemies.

The international settlement still is isolated with strong guards posted and all international citizens ordered to keep within the settlement.

Report Disorders

First reports of disorder in the international settlement came when it was learned that the international police made several bold charges in the Nanking in an effort to clear the street of turbulent crowds.

Sniping guerrillas are reported to have shelled one American, one British, one Portuguese and one German subject, who were driving automobiles in the international settlement.

Evidence of the chaotic conditions that rule in the native city was given today when it was reported that nationalist guerrillas, storming Disbawell's station, found 40 northern soldiers taking refuge there and murdered all of them.

The tensile in Shanghai was increased tonight when there was a sudden strike of the workers in the electric power plant.

The city went into semi-darkness and immediately the searchlights of naval vessels lying at anchor in the harbor began sweeping over the city, giving weird flashes of light and up and down the streets that were for the most part deserted.

Marines Have Landed

American marines have been landed and have been put on guard duty. Japanese and Portuguese troops also have been landed to aid the British troops.

British troops have been fired on by retreating Shantungites. Two American soldiers during patrol duty within the international settlement have been killed.

Outside of Shanghai similar chaos prevails. Chang Chow is reported to have fallen to the Cantonese thus cutting the Shanghai-Nanking Railroad, and barring the retreat of the northerners in Shanghai.

Although calm is reported everywhere in the international settlement, there is great tenseness and fears are expressed that either the retreating northerners or the guerrilla sympathizers of the Can-tonge may burst forth.

The general strike which was called upon the entry of the Cantonese into Shanghai has already seriously hampered normal life, and with 100,000 workers reported idle there may be difficulty in maintaining public services.

Sharp Fighting

The greatest danger at present appears to be from the guerrilla warfare of the ununiformed Cantonese syn-thizers who have already clashed many times with the Shantungites and it is reported that scores of guerrillas have been killed and wounded. Sharp fighting occurred before the guerrilla fronts met. And, says the colored race is the negro will cease to be important as a separate factor in the population.

Mr. Black, brown, white or yellow will adjust themselves mentally to the environment with ease. But it is not so physically. The negro developes physically, in city life, and the sons of the white races compared with the negroes have been standing the negroes have been standing the white men.

DESCENDANTS OF Britons that were racing through the streets with their stomachs painted blue and their faces painted red as well as their skins, the negroes that lived in the slums of years ago. That is why the death rate among the negroes is lower in cities than in the country.

It is evident in this news for the colored people that believe in the negro theory that when we die we shall here to live in cities and their spirits will inhabit the bodies of the white races compared with the negroes. It depends on how long the negroes have been standing the
white men.

"DADDY" BROWNING WINS
HIS SUIT FROM "PEACHES"

BULLETIN

Carmel, N. Y., Mar. 21—"Peaches" Heenan Browning's dreams of wealth and comfort at the expense of her millionaire husband, Edward W. "Daddy" Browning, blew up in a cloud of smoke today when Justice A. H. F. Seeger handed down an opinion in favor of the elderly real estate magnate.

"Daddy," under this ruling, will not have to pay "Peaches" any alimony. She had been receiving $300 a week since shortly after their separation, pending the outcome of their cross-actions. The next move will be the preparations of finding in fact and conclusions in law by the successful attorney, and alternative findings by "Peaches'" lawyers, after which the findings adopted by Justice Seeger will become the formal decision.

$150,000,000 Loss in Wages Seen if 300,000 Miners Quit Work on April 1; Four Months Layoff Certain

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 21—Pennsylvania's soft coal miners administrators are gathering now to be-repared to prepare for a four-month strike.

All mining operations in the employed coal field of the country will cease April 1. Each miner gets the month with a six-month layoff. There are some reasons for believing it may last much longer.

On April 1, 300,000 miners will cease work. In four months, their loss in wages will be $150,000,000.
The loss to business will be greater than this.

Both factions at war

It is more than a wage dispute.
It is a fight on the part of power

BOYS' MEETING Y.M.C.A. IS SUCCESS

State University Coach
Says Rains Cause Slump
in Attendance

Under the heavy rainful Marion boys began the annual meeting of the Y.M.C.A. yesterday morning at the Marion Armory. The meeting was opened with a short service.

E. R. Douglass, president of the Y.M.C.A., was elected to speak over the radio at the Marion station as well as a speech on weather conditions. The meeting was divided into discussion groups delegates being assigned to each group.

Donald M. Johnson, vice-president of the Y.M.C.A., was in charge of the planning of the program at the meetings.

One of the purposes of the meeting was to establish a closer relationship between the youth in the city and the Marion boys. Another purpose was to find a program for each to help the cause of the Y.M.C.A. and the Marion boys which threatened Marion's future after a week's absence.

MARION DE MOLAY MEN ATTEND STATE MEETING

Thirty-Five Members of Local Chapter Go to Cleveland Conference

Thirty-five members of Marion chapter of DeMolay and Charles Morris, a candidate for induction, were among the 2,000 DeMolays in meeting at the state meeting of DeMolay held Saturday night at Masonic Auditorium.

The Marion delegation with one exception was the largest. One DeMolay chapter having a representation of 48 boys.

The meeting was held in honor of George N. Clark of Marion, state deputy, who is today attending the annual national grand chapter meeting being held at Louisville, Ky. A total of 160 candidates including Mr. Morris were initiated by the four Cleveland chapters.

A splendid musical program preceded the meeting with numbers on the Temple topic and a concert by members of the Temple Quartet, local and district and high corps of Cleveland.

MARION MEN MEMBERS OF CONTROLLING BODY

With the election of Fred McMeans of Upper Sandusky, president of Ohio State University, Y. M. C. A. and Don Newton, Falls, vice-president, both members of Phi Delta Theta fraternity, political control at State was firmly with the Phi Deltas, of whom Albert Lincoln and his father, Dr. A. M. Lincoln, 380 S. State, are members.

Thirteen fraternities formed a committee to defeat the Phi Deltas, who, as leader of the "Big Ten" have controlled campus politics for the past several years.

The fraternity is prominent in other school activities.

After three days' home treatment got complete relief

Following a severe attack of rheumatic fever, a New York girl suffered for days with excruciating pain in her feet and shoulders.

"After trying everything else," she wrote, "my mother persuaded me to let her apply Sloan's Liniment, and within days I felt no further pain."

It is amazing what Sloan's will do to relieve pain. This is because it doesn't just deaden the nerves. It rubs up the body to throw off the cause of the trouble.

Apply gently without rubbing. In fact it sends a healing tide of fresh, red blood to the place that hurts. In just a few minutes the pain stops. So pleasant and easy to use too. Get a Daily Proverb: "Before you make a friend eat a peck of salt with him."

Reports from all parts of the state are to one to the effect that business in the courts of justice of the peace and village courts seem to have suffered a somewhat marked recession.

Our idea of the real thing in the way of a practical joke is the fellow who unadvisedly tells story about Patriotic visitors refusing to accept tips.

It is figured that six months will be required to put the new roof on the White House. That's one of the dependable phases of a government job. They're never hurried.

Equipped with an electric refrigerator, it's hard to see how the tone of the country home can be improved unless it be to lay out a golf course.

New York claims that visitors within her gates demand alibi play, and it may be said for New York amusement managers that they go out of their way to see that no visitor leaves the city in a disappointed frame of mind.

Sacha Goltz says "the more money Americans have, the less electricity they use. When they are very rich they burn nothing but candles." We very gravely fear that Sacha was entertained over here by some of the newly-rich who wanted to appear swank.

A New York court fined a father for spanking his twenty-year-old daughter, though it was admitted that she deserved a spanking. The court probably was incensed that the father hadn't used a stave, or something like that.

The fact that a youth hooks a girl out of her home may show that he's not ashamed of her, but the end result of the thing is that it also shows that he hasn't any great amount of esteem for her.

One who reads even an outline of the latest book of Mr. Lewis can hardly evade the suspicion that the author is more interested in possible financial return than in accomplishing a cure for the church ills of some of which he treats therein.

Not content with bobbing their hair, the girls of China are dancing the Charleston and smoking cigarettes. Can it be that we have been sending missionaries to China to bring about a condition like this?

The little home on Long Island which was the inspiration for "Home Sweet Home" is for sale. No doubt it has a historic value, but any home in America which is a sweet home to those who dwell within is of far greater value to the community and country alike.

At last some of the big city daffies have awakened to the menace in the Collister bill, which, if enacted into law, would permit a combine and make possible a monopoly of the use of the roads of Ohio for the purpose of carrying passengers for profit. It's a bit puzzling why they did not sooner come to the support of the campaigns of the smaller city daffies against it, but "better late than never."

The Plague of Laws.

Writing in the American Mercury under the caption, "The Plague of Laws," William P. Helm, Jr., who specializes in government statistics, says there are theoretically operative in this country federal, state, county and municipal laws closely approximating 10,000,000, and that the time is at hand when this awful mass of legislation must be junked and replaced by a simple code of laws which will be possible of understanding by the people of the land.

It is too early in the new year to give an accurate statistics on the legislation of 1926, but in 1925 no fewer than 13,000 new laws were enacted by the legislatures of the forty-eight states. Fifteen of the larger American cities the same year added 4,500 laws, and when it is taken into consideration that there are 12,000 important cities and villages in the United States and that all of them were busily engaged during the year in grinding out ordinances, some conception of the legislative load may be had. And a sad place of it is that the legislative bills of the various states as well as of these 12,000 municipalities are still grinding away.

It goes without the saying that the public can not keep conversant with the legislative output, such is its volume, but the worst part of the situation is the awful cost. More laws cause the creation of more commissions, bureaus and boards to enforce these more bureaus to enforce them and the more bureaus we have, the greater is their power to secure the passage of still further enactments to entrench them in the positions they hold. This endless cycle has been going on till the tax burden has become staggering, and so we see our own state facing at the present time a deficit variously estimated at from $8,000,000 to $13,000,000.

It would be a blessing to the state—to all the states—if there were an absolute cessation of legislation, other than that absolutely necessary to keep state governments in existence, for the next ten years.

Strong for the Old Ways.

The age-old ways of doing things are not to be despised. In the days of Queen Victoria the strength of character in business, in family, in the church, in the state, in the nation, was the power of personal example. The old ways were not always better than the new, but they were more often good.

It will be recalled that two pieces of British legislation, one representative capital and the other representative local, resulted in a revolution in the British Empire. One of these was the Corn Tax, which imposed a heavy duty on imports of grain, and the other was the Income Tax, which imposed a heavy duty on incomes.

Wrong Feeding Affects the Baby.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Babies have bowls just as adults have. Their intestinal action must be watched more carefully than in the case of their seniors.

The good or bad effects of baby's feeding can be determined by the state of the bowels. Loss of regularity is almost always the effect of wrong feeding.

Diarrhea is a serious symptom in a baby. It will pull down the health about as fast as anything can do.

Peristalsis in the bowel, gas formation, constipation and diarrhea are associated conditions. Bad milk, too much milk, too far milk, something having to do with the milk is likely to be the cause of these annoying symptoms.

Babies must have water to drink. Just because they are living on a fluid diet does not mean that water is not welcome and is not needed.

Constipation may be the result of giving too little water. Give several tablespoomfuls of water every day. The baby will thrive on it.

The mixture of the elements making up the baby's food is called the "formula." Almost always when the intestinal tract is disturbed the formula is wrong.

Mother's milk is the best food for babies. If the baby is constipated, however, it may be that mother must be special knowledge to make the mixing of the formula just right. Even when the baby is breast fed it is necessary to be told what to do if the baby isn't thriving.

What I am leading up to is this: If the baby is constipated, if the baby has diarrhea, if the baby has colic—find out why. Talk with your doctor at once. Don't wait till the little one is sick.

Diarrhea and vomiting are signs that all feeding should be stopped for a while. Take the baby off the bottle and give it nothing but water until the doctor has been consulted.

Don't take any chances on the welfare of the precious little life. Have expert advice at once.

JOINT CHURCH SERVICES ARE HELD IN KENTON

Union Meetings of Presbyterian and Church of Christ to Continue Indefinitely

Kenton, Mar. 21—First steps towards what might eventually develop into a closer unity of churches here, were taken Sunday night when the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church and the Church of Christ united in session Sunday evening services.

The union meetings are to continue indefinitely at the meeting place and ministers alternating each week.

Remaining churches have been appointed with a view to further cooperation, but owing to the fact that Lenten and pre-Easter programs were already in operation no action was possible at the present time. It is possible that other churches may join in the union program or other similar groups be formed following Easter.

The opening joint service was held in the First Presbyterian church last night when Rev. H. E. Bradford, pastor of the Church of Christ, delivered the sermon. On next Sunday evening Rev. E. A. Redes, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will address the meeting in the Church of Christ.

Annual Recessional Services were held by the Simon Keaten Chapter, Order of DeMolay, Sunday morning in Epworth Methodist Episcopal Church with Rev. D. Earl Rhodes delivering the sermon. "The Attitude of a Body of Believers" attended in a body by Frank Burger, adviser of the chapter.

Starting yesterday and continuing until Easter Sunday, special Lenten services are to be held each evening in Epworth church, the pastor delivering a special sermon series.

The choir of the First Presbyterian church yesterday started plans for the presentation of a concert of secular music, both vocal and instrumental, at the Epworth M. E. church on March 25. More than 30 voices will comprise the choir under the direction of Miss Frances Harrison.

The preliminary contest was held Mar. 11 with nine schools participating. Upper Sandusky was not included in the contest.

Writes to Ask if Women Really Are Good Sports

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

WELL, am I not a good sport? As good as men say? I fear I hear a chorus of "no's" not only from men but from women. Nevertheless, what are the facts? And another query which is brought to my mind by the first is, don't we women echo men's estimate of us somewhat slightly despite our reported freedom and independence? Do we really state our own ideals of our sex when question is raised or do we say "yes" unthinkingly to men's often thoughtless generalizations?

CLARA W. cites an instance of a woman not being a sport. I'd like to hear from others on the subject. Following is her letter:

"Dear Mrs. Lee: Last night a girl friend and I went swimming at the Y. W. C. A. pool. There was a long line waiting to get suits, etc., and we rather despaired of getting in, but stood in line talking and joking."

"A girl came along and stood talking to the one ahead of us. She was asked if she was going in and she said no. Nevertheless she still stood and talked and when her friend got her suit and towel she thrust herself in the line ahead of us and got waited on. Naturally we were all indignant. The girl behind me said, 'If she took part in sports she'd never do a thing like that!'

"Mrs. Lee are women less sporting than men as you so often hear it said? I thought over all the girls and boys I know and I think the girls are as fair as the boys."

CLARA W."

THE only way we have of judging is by our own experience. Clara W. My own bias has been that women not only equal men in sportsmanship, but often surpass them. That is, in the business of living, which is, after all, the real test. I think most of the traits attributed to men or women are human traits, common to both sexes. Women have for so long been treated as men's inferiors in society and alternately coddled and oppressed that they are not quite normal yet.

Like you, the women I have known have been "good sports" in every sense of the word. Occasionally I have seen women who took advantage of men's

CLIFFORD L. WEBB, Author of "Lynne"

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE is the story of Jim and his twin girls, Betty and Elizabeth, and in Chapter 1 we find MARTHA ELLSWELL, Jim's mother, who has a woman's heart and found on the Cimarron Trail the man whom she loves—Jim Edwards.

Jim, which is an artist, he has said, is 11, and Prof. and Mrs. Edwards are the strangest pair of people I have ever seen. Jim is a good boy, but he is a bit of a rascal, and Mrs. Edwards is a woman who has a woman's heart and found on the Cimarron Trail the man whom she loves—Jim Edwards.

Jim is an artist. He has said, "I am 11, and Prof. and Mrs. Edwards are the strangest pair of people I have ever seen. Jim is a good boy, but he is a bit of a rascal, and Mrs. Edwards is a woman who has a woman's heart and found on the Cimarron Trail the man whom she loves—Jim Edwards."

The story then moves forward to June of 1916. The Edgeworths are depicted as the United States were in the war, and in Prof. Edwards' workshop the reader is introduced to Jim Ellsworth, now 22, and his father's partner, and to the two girls, who have been adopted by the Edgeworths. They are 17 and one of them has been named MARGARET and the other, named RUSTY, the other, named ELIZABETH, is nicknamed BETTY.

Jim and the girls are just pals, and as they are growing to womanhood, Jim is hurriedly summoned one Saturday afternoon by Betty, who reports a fight is loitering outside the back fence addressing insulting remarks to the two girls. Jim runs to the scene, hurling a challenge.

New Begins the Story

CHAPTER III RUSTY and Betty, standing together, looked at each other and their eyes met.

"Little girls!" gasped Betty. "Now what do you think of that? He's getting worse every day!"

The man in the alley had stopped back some three feet as Jim approached. He heard Jim's remarks with a grin.

"An' who the hell do you think you are?" he asked coolly. "An' the little girls you're talking about—where are they? Duhh mean them two queens over there with the Goldilocks hair? Little girls like so much—say, they're grand ladies, bucko! I'm tellin' you, see, and I watcha might call a connosseur."

Within a minute Jim's right eye closed and a red stream was pouring from his nose. But he bore in, for Jim was no quitter and he was mad clear through.

A swift undercut that came all the way up from the hip caught Jim Ellsworth on the point of the jaw and spun him around twice. But he wasn't through yet. He was still on his feet, he told himself, and—

Then something happened. His one seeing eye caught the flash of a bright object. He heard a dull smack like wood striking bone and the face in front of him, the face that was grinning and dancing about, dropped from his line of vision. He looked down. His mist-touched gaze took in the form of his late adversary stretched out still on the ground.

As he stared in astonishment, at what he saw, Jim's rolling glances stopped on the bright object that he had glimpsed as it flashed through the air. It was a white-stripped croquet ball. He looked up and around and across the fence. Rusty and Betty stood there, their hands gripping the top board, their hips parted and their eyes wide in a fascinated stare. And then, all of a sudden, the truth hit Jim with a jolt that made him gasp.

It was not for nothing, he reflected, that he had trained those kid pals of his in the way he thought kid pals should go. It was just as well that he had taught them how to throw a baseball. Rusty, especially, could have made a big league look serious when she put it across the plate.

Jim was all clear to Jim now. Obviously the two had observed how the trend of battle was going against them. So Rusty had jumped into action with a croquet ball. She had contributed something of her own to the battle.

A gasping grunt came from the ground beside Jim Ellsworth. He looked down again and behind the vanquished stranger struggling to a sitting position. In one hand he held the croquet ball. Slowly his head lifted and he looked at Jim. Then his gaze shifted to the girls on the other side of the fence. The expression in his eyes was still a little uncertain and befuddled, but his mouth began to spread in a good-natured grin, and with that ease of action that marks the trained, Jim let loose to his feet and held out his hand.

"I know when I'm licked," he said and he spoke with a little drawl that carried a touch of the south. "I apologize, to the—er—little girls an' your—

STOCKHOLM LEADS

Chicago, Mar. 21—Carl Stockholm, paired with Franco Gorgetti, Italian cyclist, was leading the iron pack early today in Chicago's fifteenth international six day bicycle race. They had covered over ninety miles with a total of four solo laps. Soon after the pack left the corral they jolted together, and lap after lap found the teams in a jam. During one of the jams Eddie Merkner fell from the top rim to the pit, suffering a bad pedal cut in the ankle.

Ireland has the fewest suicides in proportion to population of any country in the world.

KOPP HAS HIGH AVERAGE FOR NATIONAL LOOP

Bowls Average of 187 in 24 Games So Far This Season

With only a few more rounds of play, Kopp of Bradley Drugs, leads the big parade of scorers in the National Bowling League, according to statistics tabulated today by Ed Meredith, manager of the Y. M. C. A. alleys. Kopp has rolled only 24 out of 63 games and has an average per game of 187 points.

Steinmetz is on his heels with an average of 181 and has participated in every National League game of the season, numbering 60 to date. Fifteen others of the National League have average of 180 or more for the season, the name of the league being the Marion County Lumber Company. The representation of the Delaware school explained that school spirit there was on the same and that it was inconveniently located for participation in the league.

The schools remaining in the league are Harding, High, Galion, Mansfield, Bucyrus, Shady and Ashtabula. Each school scheduled a game with Delaware despite the fact that it has withdrawn from the league.

third quarter, 19 to 19, but Prospect was unable to hold its own in the final minutes. The Agosta team was the only quintet entered in the tourney that was not entirely composed of high school youths.

There were eight teams entered in the meet and Prospect "doped" to win. It defeated Pleasant Township High, 6 to 4, in the first round, and knocked off LaRue High 20 to 4, in the semis. Agosta slipped through the first round with a 11 to 10 win over the Harding Hi-Y outfit and smacked Martel 25 to 13 in the semis.

Martel defeated the other Harding Hi-Y quintet entered in the tourney during the first round. The score was 9 to 5. LaRue shattered the hopes of a Marion team taking the championship when it ruined the Harding Sheeps, 28 to 12.

The seven games staged Saturday afternoon were among the most interesting of the season for the local Y. M. C. A. gym court and a large number of spectators witnessed the contests.

International industry. It determines the wage for all other fields and produces more than 15 per cent of the nation's coal.

This controversy does not affect the automotive industry, as it is working under a 6-cent contract made in 1925. Anthracite is a domestic fuel and is not suitable for industrial use. American industry, the railroads, power utilities and manufacturing establishments, depend almost entirely upon bituminous coal. Of all the coal produced in America, 35 per cent is bituminous.

There will be 900,000,000 tons of soft coal available on April 1. This great reserve plus the tonnage to be produced in the non-union and outlying fields, will care for ample for the public's need for several months.

If the moon's grip is broken in Pennsylvania, operators in other states will be emboldened to break with the union.

Centers in Pennsylvania

Therefore, the big battle is in Pennsylvania. This is recognized by both sides. The miners are mounting their heaviest artillery in this state. The operators are girding for a battle conflict, and are prepared to spend vast sums to operate on a non-union basis.

Operators in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio will close down their mines to await the outcome of the Pennsylvania fight.

Union operators contend they can not exist under the present $7.50 a day base wage contract, which the mine workers want to renegotiate.

Operators say the unionized industry generally has lost vast sums since 1924, and is losing business steadily to the non-union fields.

As a remedy for this situation, the operators at the recent Miami joint conference proposed the adoption of a competitive scale to be based upon the wages paid in the non-union fields. The scale would have been determined by a joint commission.

Miners said this plan would have cut wages $2.50 a day. They promptly rejected the operators' proposal and the conference adjourned without agreement. It is not likely to be reconvened as neither side is willing to yield at this time. John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, says he will never accept a wage reduction.
